

Transforming Services for Children and Youth: Creating Trauma-Informed Support for Families in Wisconsin Domestic Violence Programs

When: Thursday, February 7, 1:30-3:00 PM Central Time

Where: Webinar

Exciting webinar opportunity! Join Susan Blumenfeld of the National Center on Domestic Violence, Trauma & Mental Health to learn about a framework for building a trauma-informed approach to meeting the needs of children, youth and families exposed to domestic violence.

Designed for WI domestic abuse service providers: we encourage directors to participate with advocates, particularly those who work with children and youth.

Susan Blumenfeld of the National Center on Domestic Violence, Trauma & Mental Health presents a framework for building a trauma-informed approach to meeting the needs of children, youth and families exposed to domestic violence. Participants gain practical strategies for working with families to: enhance children's resilience and support mother-child relationships to foster healing from traumatic effects of domestic violence. Designed for WI domestic abuse service providers: directors encouraged to participate with advocates, particularly those who work with children and youth.

Participants, please link to brief survey about your webinar experience HERE . If you shared a login and phone, thank you very much! Please share the link with other staff who participated using your login. Contact Colleen (colleenc@wcadv.org) if you need assistance.

Download pdf of powerpoint and additional resources below.

 TI-Kids-Blumenfeld-2.7.13-for-distribution.pdf

Source URL (retrieved on 01/30/2015 - 7:57am): <http://wcadv.org/content/events/webinar-trauma-informed-support-families-wi>