

Local DELTA Projects

A core element of primary prevention of domestic and dating violence is helping people change. We offer new information, shift ways of thinking and attitudes, and ask people to act differently.

Four local Wisconsin domestic violence and community-based programs have been working through the CDC-funded DELTA primary prevention project to create programs to help people change. Each program focuses on a specific group in their community:

FAMILY SUPPORT
C E N T E R

Youth Action Committee

Family Support Center, Chippewa Falls
Focus: rural youth

---

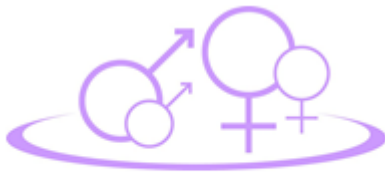

M.E.N.S (Men Encouraging Non-Violent Strength) Club

Domestic Abuse Intervention Services (DAIS), Madison

Wise Women Gathering Place

Discovery Dating

Promoting Peace, Respect, & Belonging

Wise Women Gathering Place, Green Bay Focus: Native American youth

Bringing Families Together to Build Healthy Relationships
Hmong American Women's Association, Milwaukee Focus: Hmong men

WCADV would like to make materials available to anyone seeking to learn about working with these populations toward social change and prevention.
